RBq1: Advise to include order in sales report

[cyan]Joe sells equipment to construction companies and gets paid a bonus if he hits his sales goal. He has worked hard, but the poor economy has left him just short of his goal. A customer has decided to place an order large enough for Joe to hit his goal. Unfortunately, the customer's vacation schedule will keep them from getting the formal paperwork filed in time. Do you think Joe deserves to receive the sales bonus? Please respond on a scale of 1 to 10, where 1 is no, he definitely doesn't deserve the bonus, and 10 is yes, he definitely does deserve it.

RBq3: Lowered price w/out permission - Acceptable

How acceptable was Joe's action? Please respond on a scale of 1 to 10, where 1 is totally unacceptable and 10 is totally acceptable.
